

DELE “Diplomas de Español como Lengua Extranjera” stands for “Spanish as a Foreign Language Diplomas” and are the only standardized certificates for non-native Spanish speakers, issued by the Cervantes Institute on behalf of the Spanish Ministry of Education, Culture and Sport. The DELE diplomas are official qualifications accrediting levels of competence and command of the Spanish language and are of great international value for those who are planning to study or work in a Spanish speaking environment or in Spanish speaking countries.

Reasons to obtain the DELE Diploma (Certificate):

- It is the only official title of accredited qualification for Spanish as a Foreign Language and Spanish as a second language.
- The DELE Diplomas do not expire and it is not necessary to retake the exams in order to prove again the Spanish language competence acquired.
- It is recognized internationally by private companies
- It is recognized by Chambers of commerce.
- It is recognized by private and public education systems.
- It is officially recognized in a number of countries where bilateral agreements on education have been subscribed with Spain.
- In Spain it allows access to universities, language schools and administration position at the public sector.
- Some educational institutions have adopted the DELE certificates as a solution for their assessment needs and for the purposes of academic accreditation. In other cases, the DELE Certificates have had considerable impact on the design and planning of courses and teaching materials for Spanish as a second language. DELE certificates are complementary certifications to the programs of statutory education of foreign languages in many countries and institutions, and they are also instrumental in aiding personal promotion in academic and professional spheres. The Instituto Cervantes further undertakes to carry out negotiations geared towards increasing the international recognition of the DELE certificates.

The DELE certificates contribute to the goal of achieving a greater projection of a multilingual Europe that fosters cooperation and mobility among citizens, promoting better recognition of qualifications and educational stages, as well as a quantitative and qualitative improvement in learning the languages of the European Union.
